SNAPSHOT SAFARI

Images from an event in June 2022 which brought together a multidisciplinary group of scholars and practitioners for a photographic exploration of a student design exhibition at a UK university.

Participants were asked to reflect on and photograph design exhibits in their relation to social innovation. In small groups they discussed their photographs and created posters reflecting their perspectives.
